Summary of the 19/02/2014 Conference Call

One comment was received prior to the meeting with a proposal of a case study about an international trade hub in which institutions, ministries, associations, chambers of commerce and the international trade agency cooperate with enterprises providing information and assistance to facilitate international trade (from Anna Belmonte, International Trade Commission). More information about the case study has been requested to see if it suitable to prepare a draft of a case study to include in the project.

Project lead, Maurice DIAMOND reviewed fully the draft outline for the Recommendation Guidelines and this was discussed during the call to try to complete the main structure of the project reviewing and adding the sections that they will be needed to complete.

All of the comments and suggestions were integrated directly onto the outline (please see the latest version on Confluence).

The next conference call is scheduled for March 27th, at 13:00 CET Geneva-Paris time.

The dial in information will be sent in an email later.

Thank you in advance for entering this in your calendars already.

Some PPP-TF experts volunteered to send some writing topics to fill the Guideline outline before the March 24th. The texts that the experts develop until then will be discussed during the next conference call that will be held on March. The contributions of the experts will open the topics to debate during the 23rd UN/CEFACT Forum.

If you are interested in developing the text for a specific part of the Guideline, please contact the project lead, Maurice DIAMOND.
